Weed Spraying Machines

There are a number of important points that should be kept in mind by farmers who are contemplating the purchase of a weed spraying machine. I would advise that farmers check the following points before purchasing a machine.

Giving the People What They Demand

The late William Aberhau laid it down as a fundamentai of democracy that the people must state loudly and clearly the results which they want, and that they must hold the government responsible for getting those results for them.

The Alberta Educational Coun cil, which last year led a campaign on behalf of increased government financial support of education and which is just com meacing a similar effort this year, believes that the people of Alberta want a big reform in the financing of elementary and sec ondary education. Leaving out anything which may have been submitted to the Judge Commission, we know that responsible bodies everywhere are in revolt against steadily rising school levies on real property. Some municipalities are beginning to starve other services to keep up with school costs, other municipalities were verbally spanked by the minister of municipal affairs last fall for running on a deficit.

The people of Alberta realize that the school population of this province is based upon the universal tendency of young people to get married and raise families. Nothing could be 'broader-based" than that. It is clear that the system of taxation necessary to provide the money to educate these children should be just as broadly

WORLD OF WHEAT

. his Hungry World

week by week, for the las. two years, we have been tolmetit this hungry world, that oread is rationed in almost all overseas countries, and that m.iions of people are receiving insufficient bread. Considering all this it seems queer to real hat the Dominion Government at the recent Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Confere ic . made no recommendations for in increase in Canadian wheat creage. The Go enment 'presumed the Conference would use the same targets (screage) as last year." Last year, it'v ! be remembered, in spite of the great world shortage of wheat. this same Dominion Provincial Conference recommended an acreage of 1.9 million below the acreage that was seeded in 1945 Is not Canada, then, one might ask, to assume some responsibility in increasing the production of mankind's sorely needed food, wheat? One acre cun to wheat it will he remem bered, will support five times as many people as will the same acreage sown to grains which are fed to livestock. Wheat is the food the world is now crying for, Canada could easily and without any strain, sow an additional 5 million acres to wheat this coming spring out of her 19 million acres of summerfallow to help to provde additional bread for a hungry world. The United States last year increased wheat acreage by 6 mil'ion acres. Should not Canada also do her full share?

An Important Task

MUCH HAS BEEN SAID IN THE PAST concerning Canada's role as interpreter in relations between Great Britain and the United States. Closely knit as we are to Britain by ties of empire, we are, at the same time, in a position to have a comprehensive knowledge of the problems and the outlook of our neighbors in the United States. During the war, methods of diplomacy, like many other of our established institutions, underwent changes, since leaders often found it necessary to disregard the usual procedures in carrying out business between nations, in order to save them in critical situations. There was some doubt then, as to whether diplomacy would regain its former importance in the settling of world affairs, but now it is apparent that there is still need for diplomatic dealings in international relations, and in this, as in many other things, Canada has assumed an increasingly important place since the war.

Important Task

Sir Shuldham Redfern, who recently returned to England after spending some years in Ot-For Canada Now tawa, has expressed the opinion in a recent article that Canada's greatest diplomatic task today lies in helping to maintain close ties of friendship between Great Britain and the United States, in view of the rising force of anti-democratic feeling in some parts of the world. The writer points out that it is of supreme importance to Canada at this time to do all she can to promote understanding between the two great Western democracies and to prevent the growth of any disunity between them. To successfully carry out this task will, he believes, require "all her resources of skill and understanding, all her machinery of conciliation, all her imagination, and the exercise of constant vigilance. Above all it will require inexhaustible patience."

Should Profit

Certainly, if we are to profit from the lessons of the past, we should know the importance of unity From Mistakes among friendly nations in unsettled times. Had the German leaders known that the small nations of Western Europe, Great Britain and the United States were all firmly resolved to take action together against aggression, the last war might not have begun. Even if it had taken place, events would have taken a very different course had there been prompt and powerful opposition such as could have come, had all the democratic countries been united in purpose at that time. Hitler very successfully proved the wisdom of the adage 'divide and conquer", and the lesson of his early victories should not soon be torgotten. Agreement and unity of purpose between the great Western democracies could, without doubt, be a powerful factor in preserving world peace, and in helping to maintain that relationship Canada has an important and exacting task.

Report Shows Crime Increase In Canada

Drunken Driving, Theft, Assault Cases Swell Total To 24,613 In Latest Year

OTTAWA.—The cattle rustler is a fast-disappearing species on the Can-adian crime scene, but the safe-cracker is on the increase.

This was revealed in the annual re port of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, tabled in Commons by Commissioner S. T. Wood.

Official figures from the R.C.M.P. files show that a total of 24,613 cases —an increase of 6,391 over the year ending March 31, 1946—were tried in the Criminal Code section of Cana-dian law in the year ending March 31, 1947.

The higher figure for this year, the report said, came mainly from in creases in breaking, entering, and theft; theft-general; assault-general; driving a car while intoxicated; rob-bery with violence; and arson. The report added, however, that there had been a drop in cases of attempted murder and manslaughteras well as a sharp decline in cattle-stealing. At the same time, safe-blowings had registered a jump of 17 over the previous year's mark, showng a total of 66 up to the end of March this year.

The sharp noses of two R.C.M.P.-trained dogs—named "Tell" and "Ignatz"—smelled out two prairie crim-inals along with their $500-loot taken —Emerson. from a safe-cracking job in the pool elevator at Stranraer, Sask,

This was also revealed in the report.

When two suspicious men were ported about 20 miles from the robbery the dogs were taken to the area to pick up the scent. Within a few hours "Tell" had located both men— F. Baker and F. Johnson, both welland long grass.

The second dog, "Ignatz", mean-while had sniffed out an old sock near where Baker had been hiding. The sock contained the $500 stelen cash, a bottle of explosive, and a de-

by ottawa observer

With the holidays over political observers in the nation's captal are taking a look ahead, scanning the horizon of 1948. Our World Responsibilities

No one denies that the relationships of the nations of the world deteriorated seriously in 1947. Is there hope that 1948 will see them come together again? Have the teachings of the prince of peace taken a strong enough hold on the world to assure peace and co-operation? These are perhaps the most compelling questions in many minds as the new year opens. One thing has become clear, the prosperity and happiness of all Canadian is bound up, perhaps more than that of any other people, with the question of peace and world co-operation. Many wish that this were not so and that we could shake our responsibilities but most observers here believe that Canadians of all parties will stand together to do our full part in the councils of the world

Canada has a foreign policy of its own and all political parties in parliament appear to be unanimous on all major aspects of the policy It is a policy that seeks friendship ,co-operation and trade with all inations of the world regardless of their ideologies or political complexion. It is based on a firm belief in the good faith of our closest neighbors Great Britain and the United States. We hope that 1948 will bring reasons for a like belief in the good faith of other great powers.

Our Trade Possibilities

Our outlook for trade, which brings prosperity to all our people, is more pleasant to review and comes second in importance in the minds of observers.

The Geneva trade agreement went into effect on New Years day. Channels of trade are not established quickly nor do they change easily. For this reason observers expect the most favor able effect of the agreements to show itself in the latter half of the year. As soon as the agreements are ratified by nas making up 85 percent the foreign trade of all the negotiating countries the "International Trading Organization" will be set up as a separate body.

Canada obtained some major adjustments in tariffs and quota restrictions currently in effect in the United States and certain European countries, particularly for her agricultural goods but also in a worthwhile measure for manufactured products. These concessions will have a favorable effect in expanding our exports in general and to the United States in particular.

Another related development will be the first Canadian International Trade Fair , to be held under Government sponsorship in Toronto. Almost half the exhibitors will be from countries other than Canada and individual invitations have been extend ed to 120,000 buyers and buy-organizations throughout the world. It is confidently expected that this further example of cooperation between Government and private business will result in substantial benefits to Cana-' dian industry and the wider dis tribution of our foreign trade.

One cannot overestimate the connection between world trade and peace. Nations who mutually benefit by trade are not likely to lose this benefit by going to war. For this reason one of the most hopeful signs on the horizon is the announcement of the completion of a trade agreement between Great Britain and Russia.

Canada's Program

Perhaps a third item in many minds here as they look forward to 1948 is the benefit that will be brought to Canada by people from other parts of the world.

In 1947 36,500 people from the British Isles settled in Canada. In addition 9,000 displaced persons and refugees were brought her This result was obtained in spite of serious shipping shortages and it is expected that 1948 will show a great increase in the immigration of selected people.

Until pride and stubbornness are killed in me, I will kill the best in other people.

Odd Facts From The World of Sport

If you had wondered why the Olympic Games are normally held every four years here is some data that will help explain. In Greek the word "Olym piad" concerns a measure of time, and means a period embracing four years. The Olympic Games took place at the end of every "Olympiad" or, writes Frank Menke, in reverse explanation, they marked the beginning of a new Olympiad.

The biggest loss ever taken by the promoters of a fight was that suffered by Madison Sq. Gardens when it staged the Tunney vs. Heeney bout June 6 1928. This financial fiasco set MSG back an admitted "about $200,000."

Three Men Testify

All "Co-op" Officials All favour keeping Grain Exchanges open All want "Futures" markets continued

Read what two of them said before United States Congressional Committee on December 4th and what Mr. Davis said in St. Louis recently.

Testimony of Mr. Herman

Skyberg: Mr. Herman Skyberg, President of the Farmers' Co-operative Marketing Association of East Grand Forks, Minnesota, said,

"With the present marketing system (i.e. Grain Exchange and "futures" markets) we have protection and do not have to carry the risk. As our manager buys grain from farmer members he sells "futures" in the Minneapolis Grain Exchange. This gives us security and insurance". His cooperative favoured continuance of open markets and "futures" trading. Therefore his directors had unanimously approved of his attendance at the Congressional hearing to express their wish that this satisfactory outlet for their grain be continued in operation.

Remember—his co-operative mem-bers received double the price co-oper-ative members got in Canada, where the wheat price is controlled by Cavernment.

Testimony of Mr. Roy Crawford:

Mr. Roy Crawford, General Manager of a large Kansas Co-operative with 250 locals said,

"The "futures" market of the Grain Exchanges (in our case principally Kansas City and to some extent Chicago) are vital cogs in the marketing machinery of the present distributive system which we use in disposing of the farmers' grain".

Mr. Crawford said his members did not favour closing what is sometimes called "The Speculative Market" because, he added,

"The speculator gives to their markets, breadth and liquidity and that the grain "Futures" market provides buying power by concentrating in one general market place, demand from all sources, including the Millers, the Processors, domestic dealers, exporters—and the individual risk dealers or speculators."

Statement of Mr. John H. Davis:

Speaking in St. Louis recently, John H. Davis, Executive Vice-President of National Council of Co-operatives, said,

"The principle role of government in a long-range agricultural policy should be to assist in research, education and adjustment. We should depend on free enterprise to provide the markets. We can't call it a free market when the government maintains production restrictions and price controls on agricultural products. The government's function of adjustment is maintaining the mechanism of controls and subsidies for us in an emergency such as occurred in 1933. However, we hope to stay as far away as possible from restriction of pro-

Despite these testimonies the Canadian "Pools" want to close the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, although between them, they own ten memberships in it. And their members are actively trading in the "futures" market for coarse grains every day. Does this make sense to you, Mr. Farmer? The simple fact is that the Leaders of the Pools want to close the Exchange to get a vise-like monopoly control.

Farmers are cordially invited to visit the Exchange during trading hours, 9:30 to 1:15 p.m. Ask to see the President or Secretary, or any other member. Ask questions. Straight answers will be given.

All our members favour a "floor" price for wheat administered by the Canadian Wheat Board. But they also believe that farmers should have the opportunity to get top world prices NOW, through open markets, while prices are high. The more farmers know about the Exchange, the better it will be for all concerned. Meantime mail the coupon below for booklet explaining the Canadian Wheat Board Act and how you are regulated and controlled by it, in its present form.
